You'll likely see these terms during enrollment and throughout the year. Knowing how these costs work with your plan will help you avoid unexpected charges.

- Premium – how much you pay for your plan
- Deductible – the amount you're responsible to pay for care before your plan helps cover costs, not including your premium
- Copay – a set amount you pay each time you visit the doctor or get a prescription
- Coinsurance – a percent of the bill you pay; your plan covers the rest
- Out-of-pocket maximum – the most you'll pay for covered care each year
- Summary of Benefits and Coverage (SBC) – lists the specific costs for your plan

Guide to choosing your plan level

Now that you’ve found a network you like, it’s time to choose the plan level that works best for you.

Gold plans

You'll have higher premiums, but you'll pay less when you get care. These plans might be a good choice if you think you'll use your health care coverage frequently, like if you have conditions that need ongoing management.

Silver plans

A perfect balance between your monthly premium amount and your out-of-pocket costs. These plans are great if you're not sure how much you'll use your health insurance, but you want to be prepared.

Bronze plans

You'll have lower monthly premiums, but you'll need to pay more when you get care before your plan starts to pay. These plans are great if you don't think you'll go to the doctor often, but still want basic coverage.

More plan types

Health Savings Account (HSA)

An HSA is a savings account that allows you to put money aside and withdraw it tax free for certain health care costs, like deductibles and copays. You can contribute to an HSA when you're enrolled in a high-deductible health plan (HDHP), a type of plan where monthly premiums are lower, but you pay more when you need care. All bronze and some silver plans qualify as HDHPs and are eligible to pair with an HSA.

HealthPartners complies with federal and state laws regarding the confidentiality of medical records and personal information about our members and former members. Our policies and procedures help ensure that the collection, use and disclosure of information complies with the law. When needed, we get consent or authorization from our members (or an approved member representative when the member is unable to give consent or authorization) for release of personal information. We give members access to their own information consistent with applicable law and standards. Our policies and practices support appropriate and effective use of information, internally and externally, and enable us to serve and improve the health of our members, our patients and the community, while being sensitive to privacy. Appropriate use and coverage of prescription medicines

We provide our members with coverage for high-quality, safe and cost-effective medicines. To help us do this, we use:

- A formulary, which is a preferred list of prescription medicines that has been reviewed and approved for coverage based on quality, safety, effectiveness and value.
- A special program that helps members who use many different medicines avoid unintended medicine interactions.

The preferred medicine list is available on healthpartners.com, along with information on how medicines are reviewed, the criteria used to determine which medicines are added to the list, and more. You may also get this information from Member Services.

HealthPartners negotiates with some providers to pay discounted rates. In those cases, coinsurance (a specific percentage of the charge) is based on that discounted amount. Copayments (flat amounts specified in advance for categories of service, such as office visits or prescriptions) are based on an aggregate of billed charges for that type of service. Our mission is to improve health and well-being in partnership with our members, patients and community.

This plan is subject to changes required by state and federal law, including changes to maintain a certain actuarial value or metal level. This and other factors may affect changes in premium rates.
